FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE - SEATTLE, WA FEBRUARY 16, 2006

"A-door-nimals receive a '5-UP Review' from Family Review Center!"

A-door-nimals. A new product to the market, a new way to announce baby's birth! An upscale announcement, a plush toy, and a keepsake, all in one amazing new idea!

Elizabeth Curtis, creator of the a-door-nimal, was inspired by her new grandbaby to create a lasting impression and a lasting gift. She was not happy with the mainstream gifts available, so set out to make her own gift. Now she brings this beautiful gift to the market, for others to experience and enjoy. A-door-nimals are now available both online and at gift shops around the country. [see www.adoornimals.com]

With double sided satin ribbons, a double sided heart message board, to hold both a message on the dry erase side and baby's footprints on the other. Available in both blue and pink, and in bears, dinosaurs, lambs, or frogs, this is a perfect gift for the mom or baby to be. The stuffed animal is soooo cuddly and soft, our reviewer fell in love!

We found this toy / gift to be both unique and exquisite. It fills a void no other creation has. Rather than buying a balloon to congratulate the new mother, now you can bring her this beautiful decoration that will last baby's lifetime. A personalized message of love. Hang it on the hospital door, as a beautiful way to say baby has arrived.

Janet Hanes, Assoc. Director at Family Review Center [www.familyreview.org] states "There are so many cheesy gift ideas on the market today. It is hard to find a gift that is both practical and elegant. A-door-nimals definitely fit into the category of both practical and elegant, and I believe this is why our reviewer found it to be so worthy of high marks and praise."

At a time in our life when we are elated with the events that have transpired, it is nice to give a gift that will return mom's mind to that special moment, as she looks at this toy for years to come and remembers who gave it and how meaningful that whole experience was. This is a gift that will keep on giving, in both love and memories, for many years.

You have never seen anything quite as a-dor-able as an a-door-nimal!

WHAT IS IT?

It is a count down calendar, a door hanger announcement, a keepsake, and a plush animal. The bear comes with a double face satiny ribbon and bow. This allows you to hang it from the door handle, so you can take it to the office to count down the days till baby arrives, and to make a beautiful hospital room decoration. The ribbon can be removed, when baby wants her toy.

One side of the reversible heart board is a dry erase board. This allows you to add your personalized message, and change it from a pregnancy calendar to an announcement easily and quickly. A marker is included, so you can add and change your messages. Turn the heart board over for a non-erasable and acid free side, and add baby's foot or handprints, for an ornamental keepsake to treasure forever. This too can be easily removed, and placed in baby's memory book, when you give the a-door-nimal to baby.

The curly ribbon announcing IT'S A BOY! Or IT'S A GIRL! Comes on a peel 'n stick label, so it can be easily attached anywhere you like.
