

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: SEPTEMBER 1, 2007 - SEATTLE, WA

Family Review Center announced today that the BellySock company, of Washington State, has received two very favorable reviews for the products offered for both expecting parents (BellySock Maternity) and for breastfeeding mothers (BellySock Nursing).

The BellySock Maternity offers the mother-to-be an affordable and effective way to expand their wardrobe. The BellySock fits over pre-pregnancy clothing, meeting between the bottom of shirts and the top of pants, allowing the expectant mother to continue wearing her normal clothing longer.

“The one seam design adds comfort and ease, and we found the product to be well made, so it will last throughout the pregnancy. With different colors to choose from, the expectant mother can enjoy this great addition for many of her outfits and add to the flair of her wardrobe, by creating her own fashion statement.” Said Serena Phillips, Sr. Editor at The Family Review Center.

The BellySock Nursing style removes the need for hot and heavy blankets to be used when trying to breastfeed discreetly. The BellySock covers the new mother’s belly, creating a modest feel and allowing mom to be concerned with the needs of her baby, rather than worrying if she is properly covered at feeding time. Just pull the BellySock up and around you and baby, as you find comfortable, and enjoy a relaxed feeding, while bonding with baby.

“The BellySock Nursing can be worn when not feeding, as a nice belly cover over clothing. This is nice when you still have a few added ounces leftover from pregnancy. Then when it is time to feed baby, simply pull it into place and you are set. New moms will love this one!” Serena said.
